New Vocabulary 新しい単語

hajimemashite	how do you do?	Nihon-jin	Japanese person
watashi	I	ka	question marker
wa	as for	hai	yes
Seeko	Seeko (girl's name)	-san	Mr. / Mrs. / Miss / Ms. (honorific title)
desu	am, are, is (to be)	Amerika-jin	American
doozo yoroshiku	nice to meet you	ie	no
Jon	John (man's name)	de wa ari-masen	negative form of 'desu'
anata	you	Oosutoraria-jin	Australian

Explanations

解説

Konnichiwa こんにちは

Used for 'Hello' / 'Good afternoon', and includes 'How are you'. You may say 'O-genki desu ka?' but it is not so common -- it's just a Japanese form of the English expression.

EXAMPLE

A: Konnichiwa. O-genki desu ka?

Hello. How are you?

B: Hai, genki desu.

Yes, I'm fine.

Hajimemashite はじめまして

Literally means 'I am meeting you for the first time', so it can be used for 'How do you do?'

→ used as a greeting: "How do you do?"

Doozo yoroshiku どうぞよろしく

Originally means 'Please do me a favour'. It's used for 'I am glad to meet you', and is often used together with 'Hajimemashite'.

EXAMPLE

Hajimemashite.

How do you do?

Doozo yoroshiku.

Nice to meet you.

-San さん

The suffix 'san' is usually put after the name, similar to 'Mr., Miss, Ms., Mrs.'. It's used after family names and also first / full names for politeness. 'San' cannot be used when talking about yourself.

EXAMPLE

Honda-san

Mr. Honda

Kazuo-san

Kazuo

Honda Kazuo-san

Mr. Kazuo Honda

Grammar

文法

Lesson 1 ・ AISATSU

Word Order (I) 語順 — 1

In Japanese, sentences end in their predicates (verbs etc.).

Watashi wa Seeko desu.

I am Seeko.

Jon-san wa Oosutoraria-jin desu.

John is Australian.

The subject can often be omitted if it's already known.

A: (Anata wa) Nihon-jin desu ka?

Are (you) Japanese?

B: Hai, (watashi wa) Nihon-jin desu.

Yes, (I) am Japanese.

Word Order (I) 語順 — 2

Verbs don't change between 1st / 2nd / 3rd person, or in plurals.

EXAMPLE

Watashi wa Seeko desu.

I am Seeko.

Anata wa Amerika-jin desu ka?

Are you American?

Jon-san wa Oosutoraria-jin desu.

John is Australian.

Watashi-tachi wa Nihon-jin desu.

We are Japanese.

Particle 'Wa'

Particles indicate the function of the preceding word. 'Wa' marks the topic -- the word before 'wa' often becomes the subject, translated as 'as for...', 'talking about...' etc.

EXAMPLE

Watashi wa Jon desu.

Talking about me / I am John.

Seeko-san wa Nihon-jin desu.

As for Seeko / she is Japanese.

Negative form 'de wa ari-masen'

This expression is the negative form of 'desu'.

EXAMPLE

Watashi wa Nihon-jin de wa ari-masen. I am not Japanese.

Jon-san wa Amerika-jin de wa ari-masen. John is not American.

Particle 'Ka'

When particle 'ka' is put at the end of a sentence, it becomes a question.

EXAMPLE

Anata wa Amerika-jin desu ka?

Are you American?

Seeko-san wa Nihon-jin desu ka?

Is Seeko Japanese?

O-jigi おじぎ ・ bow

Whenever they are in a formal situation -- such as when meeting or leaving people, or saying thank you -- Japanese people bow to each other. There are different types of bows, from a deep bow to a slight bow. A deep bow shows deep respect or gratitude. Whenever you are in Japan, it is better to bow as Japanese do.
